2018 Chef Ambassadors Named

Four chefs will spend a year representing South Carolina at key tourism and agricultural events

Earlier this month, SCDA Commissioner Hugh Weathers joined Governor Henry McMaster and SC Parks, Recreation and Tourism Director Duane Parrish to honor four carefully selected chefs who will serve as the state's culinary ambassadors in 2018. They are, according to McMaster, among the best and brightest culinary stars in our state. This year, all four are women.

"This program is a celebration of local talent and local food," said S.C. Commissioner of Agriculture Hugh Weathers. "These gifted chefs showcase the delicious produce and products of South Carolina's hardworking farmers, which is wonderful to see and even better to taste."

Kiki Cyrus
Kiki's Chicken and Waffles
Columbia

Owned by Kitwanda "Kiki" and Tyrone Cyrus, Kiki's opened its doors in 2012 and has been serving delicious, homemade soul food dishes to raving customers ever since. Best known for its signature dish — four crispy fried chicken wings seasoned to perfection on top of a warm Belgian waffle — Kiki's also serves a variety of home-cooked meals, from fried green beans and sweet cream corn nuggets to smothered pork chops and salmon patties. For dessert, Kiki's famous red velvet waffle with cream cheese frosting is unmatched.

Customers from all over Columbia and the surrounding area return, not just for the food but for the atmosphere. Kiki's prides itself on prompt service, friendly staff, and a family-friendly atmosphere. With events like open mic' night and live jazz, Kiki's is more than just a place to dine: it is a place to entertain, where everyone is family.

Sarah McClure
Southside Smokehouse
Landrum

Chef Sarah McClure worked under Chef Peter Dale at The National in Athens, Ga. before coming back to her home town to take over the kitchen at Southside. She has reinvigorated the family business with her new and exciting cuisine.

Southside Smokehouse specializes in traditional American comfort food with a twist. From barbecue to Louisiana Cajun and Creole dishes to other Southern classics, Chef McClure showcases weekly specials that are creative and eclectic.

Specially prepared steaks, seafood, pasta, pizzas, sandwiches, tacos and more appear on this frequently rotating menu. Whenever possible the vegetables are seasonal and locally sourced from farmers in the Landrum, Tryon and Columbus area. The full bar features the classics plus unique cocktails, beers and old-fashioned libations.

Heidi Vukov
Croissants Bistro & Bakery
Myrtle Beach

Heidi Vukov moved from Pennsylvania to South Carolina in the early 1990s and shortly thereafter opened Croissants Bistro and Bakery in Myrtle Beach. Since then, she has been named South Carolina Restaurateur of the Year. Croissants Bistro & Bakery has become a destination restaurant on the coast.

Offering everything from coffee and espresso drinks to homemade soups and sandwiches to baked delicacies and catering, Croissants' mouthwatering menu offers an eclectic variety of food for simple and complex palettes alike.

For breakfast try pancakes, Eggs Benedict or the infamous Bananas Foster French Toast. For lunch, indulge in a Southern classic like shrimp and grits or a fresh specialty sandwich like the Turkey Pretzel Club. Desserts and bakery items are prepared fresh daily.

Michelle Weaver
Charleston Grille
Charleston

An Alabama native, Chef Weaver was raised with a passion for cooking and knowing the importance of farm-to-table. Her formal

Let's All Be Certified Ambassadors

The holidays are upon us, and Christmas is just a few days away. No better time to become a Certified Ambassador. Not to be confused with the newest distinguished Chef Ambassadors featured in this issue, of course. But maybe we can be inspired by their stories and accomplishments, this most festive time of year.

I've said many times that all of us have a part to play in supporting agriculture in South Carolina. What our farmers grow makes a difference for consumers, and what consumers choose to purchase makes a big impact for our farmers. Sounds simple, but buying and eating Certified SC Grown produce and products is one of the best ways to support our hardworking farmers.

Typically, ambassadors like our own Nikki Haley at the UN are official representatives of a particular place, business or organization. Our Chef Ambassadors, for example, will represent South Carolina at many events throughout the region through the coming year. The good news is, you don't have to go on tour and give formal speeches to be an ambassador of Certified SC Grown.

The South Carolina Market Bulletin

(ISSN 0744-3986)

The Market Bulletin is published the first and third Thursday of each month by the SC Department of Agriculture, Wade Hampton State Office Building, Columbia, SC 29201. Periodicals postage paid at Columbia, SC 29201.

Postmaster, send address changes to:
SC Market Bulletin, PO Box 11280, Columbia, SC 29211

Policies for Advertising

Only ads pertaining to the production of agricultural products and related items are published.

Only one ad per category is allowed, but readers may submit ads in up to four different categories. “For Sale” ads must include a price. Ads will be published one time only.

The advertiser’s complete name, address, zip code, county, and phone number with area code are required for each ad. However, only the person’s name, county, and phone number are listed. Advertisements can be no longer than 150 characters including name, county, and phone number.

Out-of-state ads are not accepted.

Advertisements from anyone acting in the capacity of an agent cannot be accepted. That includes ads from dealers, merchants or commercial businesses, including real estate ads. We do not accept sealed bids, legal notices or consignment sales.

The Market Bulletin reserves the right to edit and/or verify ads and notices. Ads are received in good faith, and the Bulletin assumes no responsibility for their content.

There is no charge for advertising.

The deadline is noon on Tuesday of the week before publication. Check each category for specific rules.

Ads may be submitted by:

- Mail: SC Market Bulletin Advertising, PO Box 11280, Columbia, SC 29211. Please use 8½ x 11 inch paper.
- Fax: 803-734-0659
- On-line: Go to agriculture.sc.gov. Look for Market Bulletin, select “post an ad,” and follow the instructions. If an email address is included, a reminder will be sent for ad renewal. Do not use all capital letters.

USDA Names Directors of FSA & RD

Two state directors have been appointed to the USDA Farm Service Agency by President Donald Trump. Boone Peeler is the new state executive director for FSA and Debbie Turbeville is the state director for Rural Development.

"Boone Peeler and Debbie Turbeville will be excellent representatives of the United States Department of Agriculture in South Carolina," SC Agriculture Commissioner Hugh Weathers said. "They will play an important role in agricultural policy and economic development in our state, and I'm delighted with their appointments."

Peeler is the vice president of Harvey Peeler's Farm Inc., his family's cattle business in Gaffney. A graduate of Clemson University, Peeler comes to FSA from the S.C. Department of Health and Human Services. He has served as a member of the Gaffney City Council since 2006.

"Agribusiness is South Carolina's largest industry, and I will work tirelessly for our farmers as the state's FSA state director," Peeler said. "I look forward to working with the USDA and Secretary Perdue and thank President Trump, our state Congressional delegation, and Commissioner Weathers for trusting me with this important position."

The Farm Service Agency serves farmers and agricultural partners through the delivery of effective agricultural programs. The agency offers farmers a strong safety net through farm commodity and disaster programs. FSA provides credit to producers who are unable to receive commercial credit, with an emphasis on beginning, underserved and women farmers.

Turbeville of Lake City is a career-long employee of USDA Rural Development and has served in almost every role at the state level of the agency. Most recently, she was the area director for Orangeburg, Aiken and surrounding counties.

"I am thrilled to put my 35 years of experience in Rural Development to work as state director," she said. "Strengthening the economy in rural South Carolina is my passion, and I appreciate the opportunity to represent the USDA in this capacity."

FSA state directors help implement USDA policies in planning and administering programs. They are also responsible for running the day-to-day activities of the state FSA office. Rural Development state directors work to help improve the economy and quality of life in rural America.

5 SC Counties eligible for disaster loans

The USDA has designated Aiken, Allendale, Barnwell, Hampton and Jasper counties as primary natural disaster areas due to losses and damages caused by Hurricane Irma that occurred from Sept. 10 through Sept. 12.

Qualified farm operators are eligible for FSA's emergency loans, provided eligibility requirements are met. They have eight months to apply for loans to help cover part of their actual losses. FSA has a variety of programs to help eligible farmers recover from adversity.

Other FSA programs that can provide assistance, but do not require a disaster declaration, include Operating and Farm Ownership Loans; the Emergency Conservation Program; Livestock Forage Disaster Program; Livestock Indemnity Program; Emergency Assistance for Livestock, Honeybees and Farm-Raised Fish Program; and the Tree Assistance Program. Additional information is also available online at <http://disaster.fsa.usda.gov>.

First, buy Certified SC Grown produce and products. That's not hard with all the grocery stores, roadside markets and holiday festivals that feature local food. Next, serve these delicious ingredients at your holiday table. The recipes in this issue will give you some culinary inspiration. If you're like me, you're always looking for a thoughtful gift that will stand out. Check out the many SC Specialty Foods Association members at www.certifiedscgrown.com. No stocking is complete without locally produced barbecue sauce, honey, grits or baked items.

Next -- and this is where the ambassador part comes in -- tell the story. Let your family and friends know where the great food at your Christmas dinner came from and who grew it. If, like Blanche, you compile a long list of recipes, include the name of the farmer along with the ingredients and cooking instructions.

Are you active on social media? For some, it is their only way of getting news and updates. Let your followers know that you bought Certified SC Grown for the holidays and post photos of the great meals you prepare. Make sure you've liked our Certified SC Grown pages across social media platforms.

I know Blanche and I will serve Certified SC food at our holiday meals, and we'll enjoy expressing our gratitude for hardworking men and women that made our delicious offerings possible.

Being a Certified SC Grown ambassador doesn't have to end after your last holiday meal is served and the last gift is opened; it's a year-round opportunity to spread the good word about local food. Is it too early to mention New Year's resolutions? We'll save that for another issue...

Blanche and I wish you a blessed and joyful Christmas.

Holiday Recipe

Christmas morning is magical and we always love a special breakfast after we've torn into presents and spent a couple of hours playing with our new toys.

These recipes have come to me from some special friends. I love sharing recipes and I hope these help all the readers of the Market Bulletin have a Certified Special Christmas! Blanche Weathers.

Cowboy Quiche

- 1 unbaked pie shell
- 2 whole yellow onions, sliced
- 2 Tb. Butter
- 8 slices bacon
- 8 large eggs
- 1 ½ cups heavy cream or Half and Half
- Salt and pepper
- 2 cups grated sharp cheese

Fry onions in butter in large skillet over medium heat until golden brown. Fry bacon until chewy. Chop in large pieces.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Place pie crust in pan. Whip eggs, cream, salt and pepper together. Mix in bacon, onion and cheese and pour into pie crust.

Cover slightly with aluminum foil and bake 40-45 minutes. Remove foil and bake additional 10 minutes until crust is brown and quiche is set. It will seem slightly loose but will continue to set when removed from oven. Let sit for 10 to 15 minutes before slicing.

Yield: 6 servings.

SC AgriBiz Expo Provides Connection Opportunities

FLORENCE--The S.C. AgriBiz Expo offers unlimited opportunities to connect with a variety of individuals, commercial entities and new technology on Jan. 17 and 18.

Visitors will be able to meet area farmers, gain new crop information, interact with others, and learn about the latest innovations in agriculture. Delightful and tasty SC-grown food products will be available both days.

The new Farmer Appreciation Breakfast kicks off the sixth annual event on that Wednesday, followed by the trade show opening at 10 a.m. Free admission signals a significant change from previous years. The 2017 SC Farmer of the Year, Kemp McLeod, will be on hand to greet his many friends and fellow farmers, and many other award winners will share their success stories.

On Wednesday, farmers and homeowners can bring their unwanted pesticides and related liquid waste to the collection station at the Expo. Pesticide waste is difficult to properly dispose of in many rural areas. Contact SCDA staff member John Stokes at 803-737-9696.

Some tickets are still available for the Taste of South Carolina, an annual event that offers the finest locally grown products. The Taste will showcase the newly renovated Florence Civic Center. Reservations should be made on-line.

The annual Commissioner's Breakfast on Thursday, Jan. 18, supports the Commissioner's School for Agriculture. SC Commissioner of Agriculture Hugh Weathers will update everyone on the state of agriculture.

Thursday is filled with many opportunities to connect and learn. For example, the latest results on increased corn production and triple-digit soybean yields are nothing short of amazing. Other tracks will focus on field crops, vegetables, manure management, and strategies dealing with groundwater.

Room blocks with reduced hotel rates are available until Jan. 2. For reservations and information on hotels visit www.scagribiz-expo.com.

Farmer-Buyer Meet-up to be Held at Expo

Farmers and purchasers of locally farmed products are invited to a Farmer-Buyer meet-up on Jan. 17 at the Agribiz Expo in Florence, starting at 11:30 a.m.

Its purpose is to connect growers to buyers in a 45-minute speed networking session. Farmers may bring a product list and price sheet. Buyers should bring business cards and a list of products they hope to source locally.

Growers may contact Katie Welborn at katie@carolinafarmstewards.org. Buyers may contact Amy Weaver at weaverat@dhec.sc.gov. Those attending are asked to register by Jan. 11.

Chef Ambassadors

training at the New England Culinary Institute combined with her Southern roots and global palette create a unique culinary experience.

Sourcing from local farmers and anglers, her dishes also include some of the richest and highest quality ingredients from around the world. After 16 years at the restaurant and five years as executive chef, Weaver continues to develop a reputation for culinary excellence at Charleston Grill.

Zagat calls the Charleston Grill a gold standard for decadent, French-influenced Southern dining. Local delicacies go to innovative new heights with a heavenly mix of delightful dishes divided into four categories—Pure, Lush, Southern and Cosmopolitan. Creations include seared flounder with buttery grits and shrimp, sherry country ham gravy, tomato-basil salad, and grilled peach salad with country ham and candied pecans. The restaurant boasts the prestigious AAA Four Diamond Award for food excellence.

These chefs embody the best of South Carolina's food scene, both in the quality of their provisions and in their dedication to incorporating healthy, local grown ingredients into their menus.

"The Chef Ambassador program promotes South Carolina as a culinary destination by highlighting chefs who use locally grown and harvested items and who offer distinctive food," said PRT director Parrish.

Tourism and agriculture have a significant impact on South Carolina, contributing tens of billions of dollars to the state's economy, Parrish said. The chef program was established to create greater unity between these two major industries and enhance the reputation of the Palmetto State.

In 2018, the chefs will participate in a number of culinary, agriculture and tourism events throughout the Southeast, hosting cooking demonstrations and discussing their specialties.

"Being named a S.C. Chef Ambassador allows these chefs to shine a unique spotlight on not only their exceptional talents, but also on the destinations in South Carolina where they live and work. We encourage visitors and locals to dine in each of their restaurants to experience some of the culinary specials that they have to offer," Gov. McMaster said.
